Dear Families and Friends,

We are writing to update you on the COVID-19 occurrence at Woodlands Memory Care of Farmington.

As you know, we conducted universal COVID-19 testing of all residents and all staff on Tuesday, December 29th. We received the results of the 125 samples submitted this evening and learned that two additional residents in Memory Care have tested positive. All residents of Assisted Living, Park Residences and all staff members tested on the 29th were negative.

This brings the total number of confirmed COVID-19 positive individuals associated with Woodlands Memory Care of Farmington to three residents and one staff as of 6:00pm today.

Resident safety is our absolute top priority. While this is unwelcome news, we have been preparing for this type of outbreak.

The residents who have tested positive for COVID-19 are being cohorted in specific sections of the building to most effectively isolate them from non-positive residents, while maintaining memory care best practices.

We will be conducting another round of universal testing this Saturday, January 2nd. While our hope is that we receive positive news from that testing, past experience tells us that we should be prepared for additional positive cases simply based on how quickly and quietly the virus progresses.

We know that you are concerned and will have questions. We will continue to provide updates as they become available.

We at Woodlands Senior Living of Farmington appreciate your overwhelming support and understanding, as we continue to be highly attentive to the new and unprecedented needs of the residents we serve.
